Jude Laurén

For just over 20 years, I've been an unapologetic dog enthusiast, and let me tell you, it's been a pawsitively transformative journey! My love for animals has been like a trusty old friend, constantly adding vibrancy to my life. Even though my professional life might keep me busy, I often find myself slipping away into the delightful chaos of playing fetch with dogs, cuddling with cats, championing animal welfare causes, or jetsetting to far-flung corners of the world. I'm a globetrotter with a passion for diverse cultures and destinations! I'm a firm believer in the limitless power of imagination and the magic of following your heart. There is no limit to life unless you allow challenges to hold you back. Me, Tutti and Buster are firm believers of taking charge of your life. Whether I'm diving into a new project or indulging in a hobby, my creativity has been my secret sauce for breaking boundaries and soaring to new heights. Traveling has shown me how intricately we're all woven together. I'm convinced that each of us has a role to play in brightening the world for both humanity and our furry friends. That's why I pour my heart and skills into sparking positive change wherever I can.
